

Determiner Detectives

Identify the determiners by underlining them.

Determiners are the words that come before the noun to give the reader information about it, for example, the number of nouns, or who they belong to.

1. Which cup should I take from the cupboard?
2. Those books are so dirty; they need to be cleaned.
3. His coat was blue, just like his eyes.
4. That is the tree which used to have a swing on it.
5. Five bees were buzzing around the sunflower.
6. Could I have less ice cream please?
7. Some people think that this town is boring.
8. It is good to brush your teeth twice a day.
